参加者へのメッセージ    Message to Participants
For My fellow Japanese students, Comfort zone is one of the key enemies of success, as such, wake-up and sustain your heros hardwork. Don't be passive; instead, be active and interact with others.' Create an effective network. Make an effort to participate in student organizations in order to improve your soft skills. For my fellow students from developing nations, specifically from Africa, lets always think of solving our local, immediate problems not trying to copy what can't be implemented in your local communities. Innovation is all about solving problems not others problems or making a fancy or sexy names to yourself. I love looking around and seeing for myself what value can I add and improve the lives of others.
